Snowman Ornament

Invite Frosty the Snowman to your house this year! This adorable tree ornament is made with a few sheets of foam and your child's creativity. Our snowman has twig arms, a foam hat and lots of buttons that fit his fun personality, but yours could be totally unique. Frosty makes a cute gift tag or decoration that will last and remind the family of past holidays enjoyed together.

What You Need:

- 2 White foam sheets
- Black, brown, green and orange foam sheets
- Red felt
- Pencil
- Scissors
- 2 Cups of different sizes
- Hole punch
- Thin ribbon
- 2 Seguins or rhinestones
- Small black buttons

What You Do:

- 1. Have your child trace the drinking glasses on the white foam with a pencil to make two circles of different sizes.
- 2. To make the snowman's body, glue the smaller circle on top of the larger one, slightly overlapping the edges.
- 3. Show your child how to draw a hat on the black foam by drawing a square with a brim, and then cut it out.
- 4. Glue the hat on top of the snowman's head.
- 5. Draw two twig arms on brown foam and cut them out.
- 6. Glue them in fun positions to give your snowman expressive arms.
- 7. Glue small black buttons on the snowman's face to make eyes and a mouth. Don't forget to keep the snowman warm by buttoning up the front of his belly!
- 8. Draw a triangle nose on orange foam, then cut it out and glue it on his face.
- 9. For a scarf, cut two thin strips of red felt, one a bit longer than the other. Make fringes the edges of the scarf with small cuts. Crisscross the felt over the snowman's neck and glue them in place.
- 10. Cut out two small leaves from green foam and glue them on his hat for the holly.
- 11. Attach two red sequins for berries.
- 12. Punch a hole in one corner of the hat, and run a ribbon through the hole to make a loop.

Frosty is now ready to decorate your Christmas tree!
