That Old Cliché-List

A dime a dozen.
A few bricks short of a full load
A few cards short of a full deck.
A penny for your thoughts.
All dressed up and no where to go.
Barking up the wrong tree.
Between a rock and a hard place.
Bite the bullet.
Burn the candle at both ends.
Burning the midnight oil.
Bury the hatchet.
By the skin of your teeth.
Comparing apples to oranges.
Don't burn your bridges.
Don't count your chickens before they hatch.
Don't put all your eggs in one basket.
Don't beat a dead horse.
Don't cry over spilled milk.
Don't let the bedbugs bite.
Don't look a gift horse in the mouth.
Don't make waves.
Don't shoot yourself in the foot.
Every rose has its thorn.
Fall off the turnip truck.
Fish out of water.
From the fat to the fire.
Get your head out of the clouds.
Grab the bull by the horns.
If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen.
If you play with fire, you're going to get burned.
In a pickle.
It's all downhill from here.
It's an uphill battle.
It's not over till the fat lady sings.
It's raining cats and dogs.
It's a dog-eat-dog world.
It's a rat race.
Kill two birds with one stone.
Laughter is the best medicine.
Money doesn't grow on trees.
Needle in a haystack.
Pull yourself up by your bootstraps.
Put that in your pipe and smoke it.
Put your money on the table.
Right on the nose.
Talk to the hand.
The apple doesn't fall far from the tree.
The grass is always greener on the other side.
The pot calling the kettle black.
Think outside the box.
This is the real world.
Walk a mile in my shoes.
We're all in the same boat.
When pigs fly.
